

k-love radio serves my local area as an outreach tool for many who are unable to be reached in other ways--some are homebound, some are not allowed or do not have the capabilities to watch on tv or attend services, and some are reached by accident, as i was, when they are in search of an uplifting station. for me personally, k-love is a teaching tool and a connection with other believers across the nation and around the world. losing this station would be detrimental not only to myself, but also to the community as it is also a means of advertisement of local events and entertainment. i support k-love and hope that you will consider not replacing it and letting it remain as it is now.
